

Free Brand and Book Audit

Thank you for requesting your audit. This guide explains exactly what we review, what you receive, and how to prepare so the written report lands in your inbox within five working days.

What we review

- Your retail listing: title, subtitle, categories, keywords and cover impact at thumbnail size.
- Your description: the first two lines, the promise, and the reason a browser buys today.
- Your reviews: volume, recency, sentiment and the gaps that quietly cost you sales.
- Your presence: website, author page, social profiles and press mentions read as one story.

What you receive

- A written report with three prioritized fixes, ordered by the return they usually produce.
- Before and after examples drawn from your own copy, not from templates.
- A short list of the metrics we would watch for the next ninety days.
- A plain answer on whether you need an agency at all right now.

How to prepare

- Send the live link to your book or brand and any sales screenshots you are comfortable sharing.
- Tell us your publication date and what you have already tried.
- Name the one result that would make the next quarter feel like a success.
